Forum Hosts FBI Director

Tuesday's Forum speaker told BYU students to be greatful for their church leader.

William Sullivan, assistant director of the FBI addressed the students and faculty at 10 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Sullivan encouraged the students to expand their intelligence with as much education as they can. It is his theory that an intelligent student is less gullible to the fallacies of Communism than the average person.

He told the students to weigh and evaluate, to use self-discipline, to have respect for intelligence, to sacrifice and develop themselves into builders of the future.

Sullivan used Communism as an example of a dormant unanalytical culture. He said in Communist countries "A man is what he eats."

Sullivan hoped that this nations colleges will educate a sufficient number of students with strong hands and ready minds determined to save their country from the Communist way of life.

BYU's loss in Chicago gives them a 12-6 record for the season with all defeats coming on the road. The Cougars won't be traveling this week to lose. The five seniors on the team—Raymond, Roberts, Hill, James and Jimas—have not lost a game to the Aggies as they have been at BYU. In fact, Coach Stan Watts and his crew have won five straight in this Beehive series.

Hathaway To Head BYU Dept.

Appointment of Mark Hathaway as assistant director of Broadcast Services at BYU was announced today by director Earl J. Glade Jr.

Hathaway will be in charge of television operations of the BYU Broadcast Services, which also include FM radio, University Broadcast Service Network of taped programs and closed circuit academic programs.

He is leaving his position as production manager of KPIX in San Francisco to assume his new assignment. He will be responsible for operation and production activities of KBVU-TV, Channel 11.

Some of Hathaway's television credits include production and direction of various programs in the

'Discover And Develop,' Y Students Are Urged

Editor's Note: The following is a special statement by J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to the student body of BYU.

It is with a firm conviction in the value of human freedom and with warm feelings of pride for the vital role that you are performing in the perpetuation of that freedom for future generations that I greet you, the students of Brigham Young University.

Nearly all of you have lived your entire lives in a time fundamentally different from any past era of history—the Atomic Age. Never in recorded history have the action and tenor of the times demanded more of the individual—and therefore of you. Your lives and the very survival of mankind are being continually risked as ultimate stakes in the preservation of the ideal of human freedom.

The ideal of human freedom has evolved out of the hard reality of long human experience. As you know from your studies at this great University, the concept of human

SPORTSMANSHIP

Dear Editor:

Now that we are beginning a new semester of personal improvement, let's also consider how such change might improve a somewhat tainted school image. The taint I refer to is a result of a few thousand students booing the referees during the last few basketball games on our home court. Such a scene would certainly not look good as part of the new film, "The Spirit of the Y." I would hate to see it really become a part of the spirit.

Granted that the refereeing done at those games has been about as bad as any we have ever seen, and granted that a change away from the fussy little penalty calls particular to our conference would be welcome, still, there is no reason to establish a custom of boozing that will take years to change. The refereeing will change, but we may have developed some hard-to-change habits of low-grade sportsmanship.

Most of us, I am sure, were taught to cheer the good plays and keep quiet about the questionable calls. The intentional noise while an opponent shoots a foul shot must make many of us cringe with shame. Let me suggest that we return to better sportsmanship and show our visitors the enthusiasm and comportment they should expect from BYU. And if the student section needs an example of sportsmanship we might keep an eye on President Wilkinson sitting just behind the scorer's table and close to the playing floor: when he jumps up on his feet, then maybe we can do the same.

freedom embraces principles developed over two centuries from Greek philosophy, Roman and English law, religious teachings and ethics, and Western scientific methods. Those principles are the guidelines. They are enduring and will change only when we abandon the values by which we live.

The procedures which implement these principles, however, must frequently be revised to meet changing conditions and problems. We know that techniques and policies often become obsolete. We know that new patterns of action are sometimes necessary to insure the continued revitalization of our basic principles. And, many times, only through new methods of implementation can we continuously give substance to our fundamental values. The key to success in the long uphill march to human freedom for all mankind is in those principles which create — and continue to create — an environment favorable to the preservation of fundamental values by insuring the freedom to modify and adapt patterns of action to meet the conditions of a developing and changing world.

Whether we like it or not the world is changing. The question therefore is not whether new patterns of action will emerge from the principles of freedom or from the commands of communism. Moreover, the answer to that question may decide what principles and values will determine, perhaps for centuries, the future course of mankind.

You, as informed individuals, have no illusions concerning the designs of communism against those who believe in human freedom. For some of you, communism may become as personal as a foxhole in South Vietnam or an aircraft carrier off the coast of that tormented land. For others, communism may seem as impersonal as a news broadcast or a daily newspaper. But for all of you — and for those millions of refugees who have escaped from behind the Iron and the Bamboo Curtains — there can be no doubt that communism is deadly serious. In its aggressive designs to dominate not only the world but also every facet of human experience.

You are preparing now to live in a world confronted by the encroachments of communism. What you do here — if you do it well — can equip you to meet communism intelligently and effectively. I wish you every success in the pursuit of your studies and in your development as responsible individuals. You are seeking the intellectual truths of life and self, and you are developing the physical, mental, moral, and spiritual qualities essential to your living and serving in this new era which, though fraught with danger, is bursting with opportunity.

The ideal of human freedom was not developed by accident. It has been wrought from the morally conscious effort of self-reliant individuals acting independently or joining together for a common purpose made possible by agreement on fundamental values and principles. Just as I look with admiration on the courage and strength of your ancestors who pioneered the great State of Utah and founded this fine University, I look with confidence upon you, their descendants, as self-reliant citizens of a free society being givied both intellectually and spiritually to carry forward the torch of human freedom. Go forth to discover and develop from the values of the past those new patterns of action and you will insure that the torch of freedom will burn even more brightly!

The Speed Writing Fad

The Dynamic Speed Reading Course has impression on the jet set here at BYU.

Fingers flying and pages flipping, the "in" Gary Lawrence down to the lowest Cougar taking great 1,000-page novels to rip off d dates, at The Skymont and study "get together basement floor of the library. Less-adept read left in the dust socially as the new fad has s the Fourth floor offices.

Then came the speed-writing Novelties. Universe editors displaying themselves like c the window of Clark's, but still ripping off a spy novel in less than 60 hours and coverin with undeserved fame and glory.

Charles Bittlebaum, being something o social climber of the ASBYU upper echelon, studied the rise to power of all of the ASBYU dents and Presidents during the last five years.

His study revealed four common traits of had succeeded.

1—All were returned missionaries.

2—All seemed to have some profitable bus going on the side, to supplement their modest hard work in their offices.

3—All had the uncanny ability to spot v fads would be, and incorporate them into theiries immediately.

4—All were cousins of Lyle Curtis and least one member of the Elections Committee were elected.

Bittlebaum, being a believer in modern fed all this information into the BYU IBM putting plus current fad information and asked fo by which he could incorporate all those qualific a BYU student leader.

The machine, after seven hours of gaspin ing, spit out a white card that said simply: "S Writing Course on Campus."

Astounded by the possibilities of the idea rushed off to try and find out the secret of S Berrett's speed-writing techniques, and adapt dynamics course.

Much to his chagrin, he found that Sun Washington D.C. trying to peddle some type c to President Johnson.

He attempted to locate Berrett, but foun at the University office, nor had he been seen or for the past several weeks. A fellow named El the acting editor.

Desperate, Bittlebaum rushed to Berrett was met at the door by four long-haired, 15- who said they were acting as Berrett's mama fused to allow anyone to see him, as it would other two weeks to recover mentally from writing the novel and having to live with Sur hours.

Trying bribery by promising them each amplifier failed, and Bittlebaum decided to try.

He made some discreet inquiries at the office, and found that some lackey in the color sound movies of all 60 hours the Clark's. This was done to have a record of that went on during the Marathon that might be used successfully to get standards and might be used successfully to get needed articles into the Universe.

Three days and three nights Bittlebaum studied the films. Finally he hit upon the success, a slight movement of the right ear their heads to type. Quickly he developed a writing program.

Working through the unsuspecting fr officers, Bittlebaum soon had over half of th employed in his speed-writing program.

Three days after the course began, one yo Millard, Utah wandered into the Bookstore v hand, and had filled up four tablets with pro management could have him removed.

PD — U.S. Marines & Viet Cong strengthen new attacks. America's total of and missing in the rose past 50,000, disclosed 131 Americans & 822 wounded this week.

Time a U.S. military announced the total strength of the American had risen to 9,494,000 of them.

ments of U.S. Marines ed through rice paddies and heavily forested areas to the prestation De Sota in an miles south of Quang Authorities, in disclosing the search and destroy sweep, said 51 Viet Cong have died under the gun-fire of the 7th Marine Regiment Since Jan. 26.

MORE NEEDED

But the American units quickly found themselves needing more men to hold the ground they had taken and at the same time to continue pushing ahead.

"We're in kind of a spot," said one officer in a village the leather-necks had just taken. "If we move us from here, we'll have to fight our way back again. If we stay here, we can't move on without more troops."

The second Marine operation, Independence, was kicked off Wednesday just south of the huge leather-neck base at Da Nang. But within the first hours, troops of the 4th and 5th Marine Regiments had killed 17 Viet Cong.

The new Marine actions in the northern provinces were disclosed after fighting flared anew between American infantrymen and Viet Cong in the fiercely contested "Iron Triangle" just north of Saigon.

One American infantry patrol was sent reeling back with heavy casualties after it was hit by a bigger Viet Cong force that blasted it with rifle grenades and small arms fire.

The setback came on the heels of a series of scattered battles Wednesday in which Allied forces killed at least 136 Communist troops from one of South Vietnam to another.

In Saigon a U.S. spokesman said the latest American casualties in the war has increased the war's overall toll to 8,673 dead, 40,819 wounded and 491 captured or missing in action.

HEAVY LOSSES

The spokesman said that additional losses suffered by American forces this week have "easily" pushed the total casualty figure over 50,000.

The last casualty figure for the seven days ending last Saturday showed an increase in both dead and wounded over the previous week's figures of 123 killed and 716 wounded.

At the same time the total of Communists killed during the week was down considerably, to 979 from the previous week's 1,683.

This reduced the favorable "kill ratio" to 3.2 to 1.

Bids Up For College Talent

Princeton, N.J. (UPI)—Recruiters are bidding more for top college seniors this year than ever before, according to a national survey.

None of the unexperienced academic standouts are being offered bonuses such as the $400,000 given football star Joe Namath, but the money offers are better than ever.

Chemical engineers with bachelor's degrees are being offered $717 a month. The next highest offers are made to electrical, aeronautical and mechanical engineers. The average offer to senior with a technical education is $706, up 5.2 per cent from last year.

Liberals Arts students are not being treated as well, but their average offer has risen 4.6 per cent since June to $396 per month.

Technical students have the better field all around, as the number of offers to them has risen 5.9 per cent in the past two years. While offers to all bachelor-degree holders rose by 4.2 per cent over the same period.

The figures were released today by Robert R. Jesperson, Director of Placement at Princeton University, one of 116 colleges and universities taking part in a study conducted by the salary survey committee of the college placement council in Bethlehem, Pa.

Belle Of The Y Week Has Interesting Past

Belle of the "Y" week will be March 6-10. This event, the oldest one on campus, was created and carried out by individual organizations, Y Cafeces and Intercollegiate Knights.

In 1913 a bell was donated to the school when the Provo tabernacle was demolished. Following the BYU-Utah basketball game in the early forties, the bell was cracked as the Intercollegiate Knights enthusiastically used a hammer to ring the victory bell. The administration hesitated to appropriate the money to have the bell recast because of the odds against its retaining its original tone quality. Permission was granted, and the Belle of the "Y" week was created to raise funds for the recasting. In April, 1949, the first Belle of the "Y" was chosen, and proceeds from the dance paid for the recasting. Presently these funds go to the student body funds.

In 1958 the movable bell was stolen and prompted the building of a tower. Proceeds from the

Matmen In Oregon To Grapple Ducks

by Glen Willardson
University Sportswriter

Coach Fred Davis' wrestling squad is in the Northwest today to do battle with Oregon State at Corvallis, Oregon.

The Cougar grapplers hope to add to their win streak with victories over Portland State College, which hosted BYU last night, and the Ducks of Oregon State in tonight's meeting.

Both of the Oregon teams have formidable aggregations of wrestlers and will be trying to upset BYU's winning ways of late. The Y has compiled a 4-1 record, including impressive victories over UCLA, Utah and Arizona.

Leading the Cougar mat attack is sophomore John Norton, 167-pounder from Burns, Oregon. Norton has gone undefeated in his seven matches this year.

Coach Davis not only credits Norton, but lauds the entire team for their fine showing this year. The nine starting positions, divided by weight classes, are filled with six sophomores, two juniors and a senior.

After last year's championship team was almost dissolved completely by graduation, prognostications for this year's outcome seemed somewhat uncertain. The right formula has been found, however.

DESIRE TO WIN

Lack of experience has been substituted with the desire to win, and Coach Davis admits wisely "We're getting better in every meet and making less mistakes."

If the Cougar grapplers continue to improve with experience, the nucleus could be in the making for a successful defense of the WAC wrestling championship.

Mantle To Play 'One More Year'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The last-place New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs doled out an estimated $165,000 in salaries Tuesday in hopes that a pair of aging sluggers can help to get them to first base in 1967.

The Yankees, stunned by their 10th-place finish in 1966, signed Mickey Mantle to a $100,000 contract for a record fifth straight year while the Cubs, in the second year of Leo Durocher's three-year rebuilding program, reached terms with Ernie Banks for about $65,000.

Both sluggers are scheduled to start the 1967 season at first base—Mantle in an experiment being tried for the first time and Banks in a compromise which Durocher at first rejected and then accepted in 1966. The Yankees reached the conclusion last season that Mantle only risks injury by trying to play centerfield and the Cubs learned that Banks no longer has the reactions to play shortstop.

LAST YEAR

"I'd have to say that probably will be my last season as a player," said Mantle after he signed his contract. "That is unless I have a tremendous season. Then I might think about playing one more. Otherwise, this is it."

The American League's three-time most valuable player, plagued with injuries during his career, played in 100 games last season and had a .290 average. His 1966 output raised his lifetime career total to .404—four shy of the .500 mark which is a personal goal.

Banks, who observed his 36th birthday Tuesday, was tried by Durocher at shortstop briefly last season but quickly displayed that he no longer could play the position in big league style. Playing at first base and in the outfield, he batted .272, hit 15 home runs and drove in 93 runs.

Jimas came to BYU to play basketball and averaged better than 20 points per game. On the varsity he played with Dick Nemelka and Steve Kramer who were his former opponents in high school.

Before the season began this year, Jim suffered a knee injury, and underwent surgery. It was doubtful how much action he would see this year. Obviously, the injury has not hindered play.

AGE IS LIKE LOVE

It cannot be hid. Each year brings changes, mostly so subtle they're hardly noticed. By a wife. Or a husband. Look at him now. Compare what you see to his most recent portrait. Is it the same man?

Every wife needs (and, we suspect, wants) a good, accurate portrait of her husband. Why not tell him so?

'Love'y portraits don't just happen. They're made by talented, trained, experienced, professional photographers. Like us. Insist that he pose right away.

BYU Fourth Stake Tries Idea To Mix Students

The computer-tossed Mix is a BYU Fourth Stake exclusive. However, future expansion looks promising.

BYU Frosh Baffles Bandit

It wasn't any ordinary robbery. The bandit walked out empty-handed.

The heroine, Sandra West, a BYU freshman, in accounting from Missoula, Mont., recalled being "petrified" when she was met with a gun and demand: "Give me all your money!" on the evening of Jan. 30 in Gene Evans' Pharmacy, 266 N. University Ave.

"The man, who was about 25 years old, bought some candy and then when I opened the cash register to receive his money he pulled a gun," said Miss West.

She slammed the cash register shut and simply replied, "No!" when he demanded three times for her to open the register.

There was a pharmacist in the back of the store when Miss West thwarted the robber's attempts, but he never knew what happened until the frustrated bandit had already fled empty-handed.

The police were called immediately but, "They haven't caught him as far as I know," said Miss West.

"The main purpose of the Mix program, which started last summer and has continued through the past semester," said Allen Jensen, publicity director, "is to mix students of different wards within the stake."

"The Mix program has already proved to be a success in the Fourth Stake and we anticipate the program to go campus-wide by next fall," he said. "And it may very possibly spread church-wide after that."

Interested students register at the beginning of each semester in their wards for Mix. "They register for the event they want to attend and through the computer they have a chance to be invited to that particular activity," he continued.

The events are separated into six: "Lets: Be of Service, Eat, Be Spiritual, Go Sporting, Get Together and Be Cultured."

To each activity, the computer assigns 30 students with common interests—15 guys, 15 gals—and the Mix Masters are left to their ingenuity to make the "strictly-no-date" parties a fun-filled or inspirational experience, depending upon the type of event.

"Former activities have ranged from working with welfare, pizza parties, firesides, co-recreational football, polygamy parties, to painting-in-a-d-easels," Jensen said.

"We expect 120 students to register this semester on Feb. 5 and 7 and 20 couples will be assigned as hosts, or Mix Masters as we call them," noted Jensen.

The Mix Masters are seldom married couples and usually host about four events during the semester.

Norman Wright, of the BYU Computer Center and the Fourth Stake High Council, is credited for originating the idea, according to Jensen.

Deadline For Short Story Contest Approaches

Mayhew, of Berkeley, established a trust fund annual award in short-story writing at BYU, in honor of Ezra Hinckley Mayhew, a BYU student. In accordance with the following rules set for this contest:

Award of $50 will be divided among the contest winners, $25 to first-place winner, $125 to place winner, $75 to second winner, and $50 to tie winner. However, all meritorious stories, the entire amount discretion of the judges for the first-place winner, sufficiently meritorious submitted during a contest year may receive an award.

Contest is open to all students at BYU with the exception only: An undergraduate must be registered ten credit hours per semester for at least two years (or at least six semesters) during which he has submitted his work in the contest. May be on any subject within the broad short-story form and of good taste, and judged on their literary works of art.

Work must be original, be the work of the student himself, and must not have been printed in any publication. It should be at least 2,000 words, though they should be double-spaced; however, style is more important than format.

Contest must be submitted January and February. Winning stories will be several weeks later. Awards were given in 1966. Similar awards in the spring of 1967 thereafter. Entries submitted to Dr. Bruce Clark, Department of English, 303 McKay Building.

Entry may be submitted

Tools Tested

Joint meeting of the Chapter and BYU Chapter of American Society of Manufacturing Engineers. Don Zook, Manufacturing Development Manager, Caterpillar Tractor Co., gave scientific presentation on manufacturing methods and equipment. It is Mr. Zook's ability to test and manufacture tools used at Caterpillar. New tools or processes currently considered, but not yet fully developed, include laser beam machining, magnetic energy rate forming, plasma cutting, and a new robot service.

Tools and processes have been tested and are now being used at Caterpillar. A new robot service, friction welding, welding, and a fully automated chrome plating submitted by a student during the contest for any one year. (A student winning the first-place award during one year is not eligible to submit a story during the next two years. However, all other students submitting stories, including the second, third, and fourth place winners, are eligible to submit a story the next year.)

● A screening committee of three judges appointed by Professor Clark will select the ten stories of highest quality to be considered in the final judging, and a final committee of three judges will determine the winning stories. One of the final judges will be the chairman of the screening committee, another will be selected from the Creative Writing Committee in the BYU English Dept., and the third final judge will be a person of competence not on the BYU faculty.

● All award-winning stories will be published in the Wyo Magazine.

● Copyright for all stories submitted, including the award-winning stories, will remain the ownership of the authors of the stories. Deadline for submission of manuscripts is Feb. 15, according to Bruce B. Clark, dean of the College of Humanities. Stories may be submitted in 303 McKay Bldg.

ENGINEERING, SCIENCE, MATH MAJORS:

Ever stop to think that 9/10 of your talents may lie underneath the surface?

Could be.

Now that you have your technical background, you may be submerging one of the most valuable assets in business today—a kinetic personality.

Combine these career assets with an alert, common-sense approach to solving business problems and you could be the kind of person IBM's Data Processing Division is looking for.

We're talking about IBM's new field of Computer Applications—the creative application of computers in solving problems of almost any kind. And the kind of man or woman it takes to "make it" in the field. Perhaps you. Just what is Computer Applications?

It's a mix of your engineering, scientific or math education with your ability to solve business problems and advise business management. A mix that can give you unusual opportunities for personal growth, advancement and financial rewards.

Best of all, IBM will train you thoroughly for your new career. At full pay. Sound interesting? It is.

UTAH STATE DANCE

BYU students may attend the after-game dance Saturday in the Union Ballroom at Utah State University. The "Ravens" will furnish music, and admission is free with activity cards.

TAX SERVICE

Members of Beta Alpha Psi, National Honorary Accounting Society, will sponsor a tax service daily from Feb. 1 to April 15 in 335 Jesus Knight Bldg. between 1 and 5 p.m. The students are trained in tax work and will do state and federal returns at a beginning price of $4.

COUNTY SCHOLARSHIPS

A limited number of scholarships are available for the spring semester for women from Utah County who need financial assistance. They will be donated by the Utah Valley Honors Cotillion. For more information contact the Scholarship Office, B-188 Smoot Administration Bldg.

UNIVERSE RECEPTIONISTS

Women interested in receptionist positions for the Daily Universe may contact Wendy Johnson, ext. 3995 or 3996.

CLUB SCHEDULES

Club meeting times and places end with the semester and may be rescheduled with IOC beginning Feb. 6. Open houses may also be scheduled at that time.

COMPUTER FILMS

Introductory computer films will be shown at 12 noon Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in 357 Wilkinson Center. Two different films will be shown each day. Films are sponsored by the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) and the BYU Computer Center.

CONCERTS IMPROMPTU

Concerts Impromptu will debut this semester at 9 p.m. Saturday in the Wilkinson Center Memorial Lounge. Admission is free to the Culture Office sponsored concerts.

Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Starts Winter Class Series

Graduates Average
More Than 1,500 Words
Per Minute

The Reading Dynamics Institute reports that the average speed of graduates is well above 1,500 words per minute. If students cannot at least triple their reading speed, with good comprehension, they are offered a full tuition refund. Less than 1.5% have asked for the refund during the seven years the course has been offered.

Many students come back regularly, at no charge, for several sessions each year to further improve their reading skills. Although improvement drills can be performed at home, graduates often like the added discipline of the classroom.

Teaching methods are continually being refined. For example, after several years of research and experimentation by Evelyn Wood, a whole new training program was instituted, giving improved results with heavy emphasis on technical reading and study techniques.

Dr. Robert Hutchins, former President of the University of Chicago and founder of the Great Books Program, once said, "To destroy our Western Civilization, we don't have to burn all the books. We merely have to leave them unread for one generation." The principal problem we have to face today, as the frontiers of human knowledge are being thrust back, is that this knowledge is being committed to print, and it must be read before it can be used.

Advances have been made in almost every field of human endeavor. We run faster, fly higher, and dive deeper, but we still read at the same speed that our grandparents did: 300 words per minute. With the discovery of Reading Dynamics, this is no longer necessary.

The whole philosophy of learning could be changed if every person in this country would take the time to use his dormant capabilities for faster reading. No industry could use the same standards and techniques it used 25 years ago and expect to continue in existence. Yet, we remain satisfied with the same old reading standards and techniques.

This would be fine if there were no better technique available, but a major breakthrough in this field has occurred. Victor Hugo said, "There is nothing in this world so precious as an idea whose time has come..." Reading Dynamics is such an idea.

EDITORIAL

M. DOUGLAS WOOD, Institute Director

Students Now Enrolling For Starting February 15 In New

Another series of Reading Dynamics classes will be offered in Provo, beginning the week of Feb. 15 in new classrooms at 290 North University.

Specially Trained Staff Required

Mrs. Evelyn Wood, founder (right) and Mrs. Mary Gusman, Director of Instruction, are representative of the highly skilled Reading Dynamics teaching staff available to the people of Provo. More than six months' training in the special Dynamic technique is required in addition to a college degree.

In the seven years of founding, the Reading Dynamics Institute has had the fastest growth of any school in history. It has been largely recommendation based.

Today, with 250,000 graduate schools in 70 countries, it is expected that by 1970 there will be 1,000,000 in the United States who have had a Reading Dynamics Institute.

"Dynamic reading is the most valuable learning tool I have," Dorothy Hansen, Instructor, Department of Freshman English.

"One of my most satisfying learning experiences . . . recall patterns I've found to be a fabulous organizing tool," Dr. Richard B. Wirthlin, Instructor, Department of Economics.

"I wish I had taken the course 15 years earlier!" Arch O. Egbert, Part-time Instructor, College of Religious Instruction.

"Undoubtedly one of the most, if not the most, meaningful experience of my life. I would not hesitate to recommend the course to any individual who desires to learn," Vernon Young, Graduate Student, Department of Communications.

Typical Beginning and Ending Speeds in Words Per Minute

Here are the beginning and ending speeds, in words per minute, of a typical cross section of recent Reading Dynamics graduates:

	Light Reading		Difficult Reading
	1st wk	8th wk	1st wk	8th wk
	WPM	WPM	WPM	WPM
Dr. Richard Wirthlin	503	5715	421	3690
Vernene Archibald	355	3429	241	1840
Marilyn Reynolds	310	3118	231	2300
Frank Fullmer	412	7200	343	5598
Arch Egbert	416	3800	265	2750
Dorothy Hansen	397	6090	174	5578

Group Average WPM	393	5314	288	3932
Group Aver. (Comprehension)	64%	91%	63%	86%

Reading Dynamics Graduates average 3 to 10 times faster than their starting speed...and with good comprehension.
